The Fellowship in Leadership provides a unique opportunity for talented professional staff and Ph.D. candidates to develop their abilities as leaders, leadership coaches, mentors, and researchers.

Applicants are invited, but not required, to attend an open information session at the Center for Leadership, 1813 Hinman Ave., Evanston campus, on either Monday, Feb. 29 at 4:00 pm or Thursday, March 3 at 12:00 pm.

Fellows work collaboratively with program faculty in an environment that fosters deep learning through experimentation, risk taking, academic inquiry, and real-world problem solving. On completion of the program, you will be designated as a Northwestern University Leadership Fellow.

Specific benefits and activities for Fellows include:
- Participating in a yearlong workshop and seminar series on leadership and coaching led by experienced practitioners and researchers. This includes introduction to the major theories, thinkers and frameworks of leadership and leadership coaching
- Learning how to effectively coach and develop others for leadership and teamwork roles. This includes being coached yourself, learning how to assess leadership abilities, constructing and monitoring individual leadership development plans, and improving teamwork
- In the fall, serving as discussion leaders and teaching assistants in the “Paradigms & Strategies of Leadership” course. In the winter and spring, Fellows coach individuals

Eligibility, Expectations, & Selection Process
This is a competitive Fellowship open to professional staff who are employed full time by Northwestern University during the term of their Fellowship. We anticipate appointing four professional staff Fellows. Fellows are appointed for one academic year (approximately Sept. 15 to June 15), and spend an average of 5 hours each week on Fellowship activities.

Please note that attendance is mandatory at each Fellowship seminar. Below is a calendar for next year’s seminars. Please check your schedule before submitting an application.

In general, Fellows are selected based on the following:
- Professional interest in and fit with leadership, particularly on their ability to identify the ways in which the Fellowship will illuminate and complement their professional, service and/or research interests
• Potential for working with others, especially students, in a leadership development role, now and in the future
• Interest in helping the Center advance its service, teaching, and research missions
• Prior leadership experience in higher education, or professional or community settings is also desired, but not required

To apply, please submit:
✓ 1 Fellowship in Leadership “Data Sheet”
✓ 1 Essay Response to the following: please tell us the story of a time when you took a significant risk (from your perspective) and failed. What does this story reveal to you about your leadership character? How would you describe the experience to someone else so that they could benefit from your experience? What is the key lesson that you would tell others? Please limit your Essay Response to 750 words.
✓ 1 Letter of Interest that describes – o How participation in the Fellowship will illuminate and complement your professional, service and/or research interests
  o Your potential for future work in leadership or leadership studies while at Northwestern
  o Your interest in working with students, other Fellows and program faculty Please limit your Letter of Interest to 750 words. We encourage you to be specific about your thoughts and interests.
✓ 1 current resume or curriculum vitae
✓ 1 Letter of Recommendation that addresses (a) your interest in leadership, (b) your potential for working with others, especially students, in a mentoring capacity, and (c) how your participation in the Fellowship will help advance your professional, service and/or research abilities. The letter must be sealed in an envelope that is signed along the seal by the recommender, and submitted with your other application materials.

Applications must be received no later than 5:00 pm on March 9 and should be sent to:
  Adam Goodman
  Center for Leadership
  1813 Hinman Ave.
